FIFTEEN CENTS

Placed in ACHS

Undercover cop arrests burglars

by GLORIA DAVIS

In January, in cooperation with the Antioch High School administration and staff and the Lindenhurst Police Dept., the Antioch Police Dept. placed an undercover officer in Antioch High School.

This placement was done because the police department had gotten information that indicated that people of high school age might be involved in burglaries and thefts in Antioch.

The officer was able to gain the confidence of some of those involved, gaining information that brought about four felony burglary arrests and one misdemeanor charge of selling marijuana.

Arrested were Nick Sciortino, 18, Antioch, and David Arger, 18, also of Antioch.

Both were charged with one count of burglary each. Two 16-year-old juveniles were charged with one count of burglary each and one juvenile was charged with selling marijuana.

Those charged with felonies are expected to face preliminary hearings in Lake County Court this week. The Antioch Police have filed a petition with the juvenile court concerning the drug selling.

Antioch Police Chief Chuck Miller said that more arrests were pending and Lt. Tom Fisher is continuing to investigate other information gotten from the undercover officer and those already arrested.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, ANTIOCH! — Brownie Troop 180 came to village hall to learn from Mayor Ray Toft and trustees what board does and also to wish Antioch happy 92nd birthday. Antioch residents win big at Chain O'Lakes derby

At the Chain O' Lakes Ice Fishing Derby, sponsored by the Northern Illinois Conservation Club and the 885 Civic Club, one of biggest events of its kind held in the Midwest, many local people took home prizes.

Don Effinger, Antioch, caught the largest northern, measuring 35 inches, and Louie Kent of Antioch took the top prize in the walleye category with one 26 inches long.

Pam Dagens of Lake Villa took second in the ladies' auger and Kelly Shaughnessy and Melissa Wagner, both of Antioch, took first and second prizes respectively in the girls' sack race.

Antioch boys also took first and second in the boys' sack race when Tony Chinn and Scott Burrell came in one and two.

It was a clean sweep for Antioch kids in the three-legged race as Deanna Van Patten and Amy Kitto won for the girls and Mike Dogan and Tony Chinn led the boys.

Derek Klein and Bill Mirowski took the men's and women's egg throwing contest.

Tony Chinn did it again in the men's and boys' sack race, coming in second in that one.

Francis Gavin and Tim Wallace of Antioch won the boys' three legged-race in the 14-17-year-old category.

Renee Knutson, Antioch, took a first in the girls' egg throwing contest and Mike Hamm and Bill Mirowski, Lake Villa, took the two top prizes in the same contest for the boys.

Financial trouble may be in Lotus' future

At its regular board meeting, the Lotus School Board appointed three of its members to sit on the committee to consider the feasibility of a merger between the Lotus and Grass Lake School Districts.

Appointed to that committee were JoNell Dahl, Tom Krob and Norman Fischer.

Board Member Sandra Merrill was elected to be an alternate to that committee.

These Lotus School Board members join James Zegler, Judy Hansen and John Steitz from the Grass Lake School Board on that committee.

According to Lotus Supt. Wayne Tidd, in his financial report to the school board in October, he told the board that in his "guesstimation" this might be the last year that income and expenditures would be equal because of the declining enrollment.

"With one class having nine students and kindergarten having only 10, the cost is expensive and relief is needed," said Tidd.

The total present enrollment of Lotus School is at 146.

Tidd said that a financial problem in 1979 had been solved when the electors approved a 59 cent increase in the assessed valuation.

Tidd agreed that it was the progressiveness of the retired residents of Leisure Village that brought this about. It is an unusual situation when a large group of retired people are willing to have their taxes raised to support a school system.

Tidd added that he reminded the school board of the pending possible financial problems at the November meeting, suggesting that there were many possible solutions to the problem that might come up in future years.

The combining of classes or a consolidation with another school district such as Grass Lake were two such solutions.

"We're not in any financial trouble and we have not depleted our working capital but, unless something unforeseen happens with the assessed valuation next year, we should look for financial relief," Tidd said.

When Tidd was asked what he thought his position might be if the school districts should decide to merge, he said, "I have not even thought about that nor have I thought about what's going to happen more than a year at a time."

Tidd added that he was a tenure teacher with District 10, who was an administrator. (Continued on Page 5)

School to have no specific breakfast

In last week's article on the meeting of the Board of Education of Antioch Grade School Dist. 34, it was reported that a breakfast program had been instituted wherein teachers, who decide a child is hungry, would be able to send them to the cafeteria for breakfast, that meal to be paid for by the parents of the school district if the parents were unable to pay for it.

According to Supt. Don Skidmore, there is no breakfast program per se. If a teacher feels a child is in need of food they can send them to the cafeteria where they will receive something to eat, not necessarily breakfast fare. This cost will be taken care of by the school district.

ANKYLOSED TEETH

Q. What is an ankylosed tooth?

A. An ankylosed tooth is one which is partly or wholly fused to the jawbone. Sometimes the entire tooth is submerged in the gum and can be seen only by X-rays. In other instances, the tooth may erupt partially, then stop where it is. The condition may not be noticed until the teeth on either side of it have fully erupted. Other than its stunted size, the tooth can look perfectly normal, for the enamel looks fine. The X-rays tell a different story.

If the ankylosed tooth is a baby tooth, it must be removed to allow eruption of the permanent tooth beneath it. However, when a permanent tooth seems to be ankylosed, the dentist will very likely wait and watch to see if it moves into proper position on its own. It may not present any problems whatsoever.

Anonymous letter draws angry response

by ROGER RUTHHART
Managing Editor

A second anonymous letter in County Board district four, this time directed at Republican precinct committeemen, has drawn strong response and apparently backfired on its senders.

Last month, an anonymous group calling itself the Concerned Citizens of District Four, circulated a letter to many residences in the district challenging candidates Jim Fields of Antioch and Fred Popp of Lake Villa because they also serve as township supervisors and are seeking election, re-election in Fields' case, to the County Board.

The letter called for the duo to either resign their supervisor offices or stop their campaign for the county board.

The letter failed to carry the necessary disclaimer, including name and street address of the person responsible for its circulation, and brought stern warnings from the Lake County State's Attorney's office.

The second letter, dated Feb. 20, still does not carry a name, but does include a Grayslake post office box. That box, however, was reportedly closed in January.

The latest letter urges committeemen to "do what is right for the people of your precinct."

"We have been telling the people that you (committeemen) had been misled or that you were not in possession of all the facts at the time that you made your endorsements, facts such as party unity, performance, attendance record, etc. We honestly do believe that you acted in good faith at the time you made your endorsements."

"Now all we ask of you is that you do what is only fair, that is to drop the endorsements that you have made and do not endorse anyone."

Committeemen in Lake Villa, Antioch and Grant townships had voted to endorse both Fields and Popp for the county board race where they are opposed by Janet Kapischke of Lindenhurst and Joe Tobolik of Ingleside.

Committeemen apparently saw red however when they received the letter anonymously through the mail.

Grant Township GOP Chairman Jack Kiesgen said that township's committeemen are stronger than ever behind Fields and Popp as a result of the letter. He said the committeemen don't like being threatened and don't like being called fools.

The reference was to the conclusion of the letter which says, "Remember that you have to live with these people and that they are your friends and neighbors. Nobody wants to be regarded as a village fool."

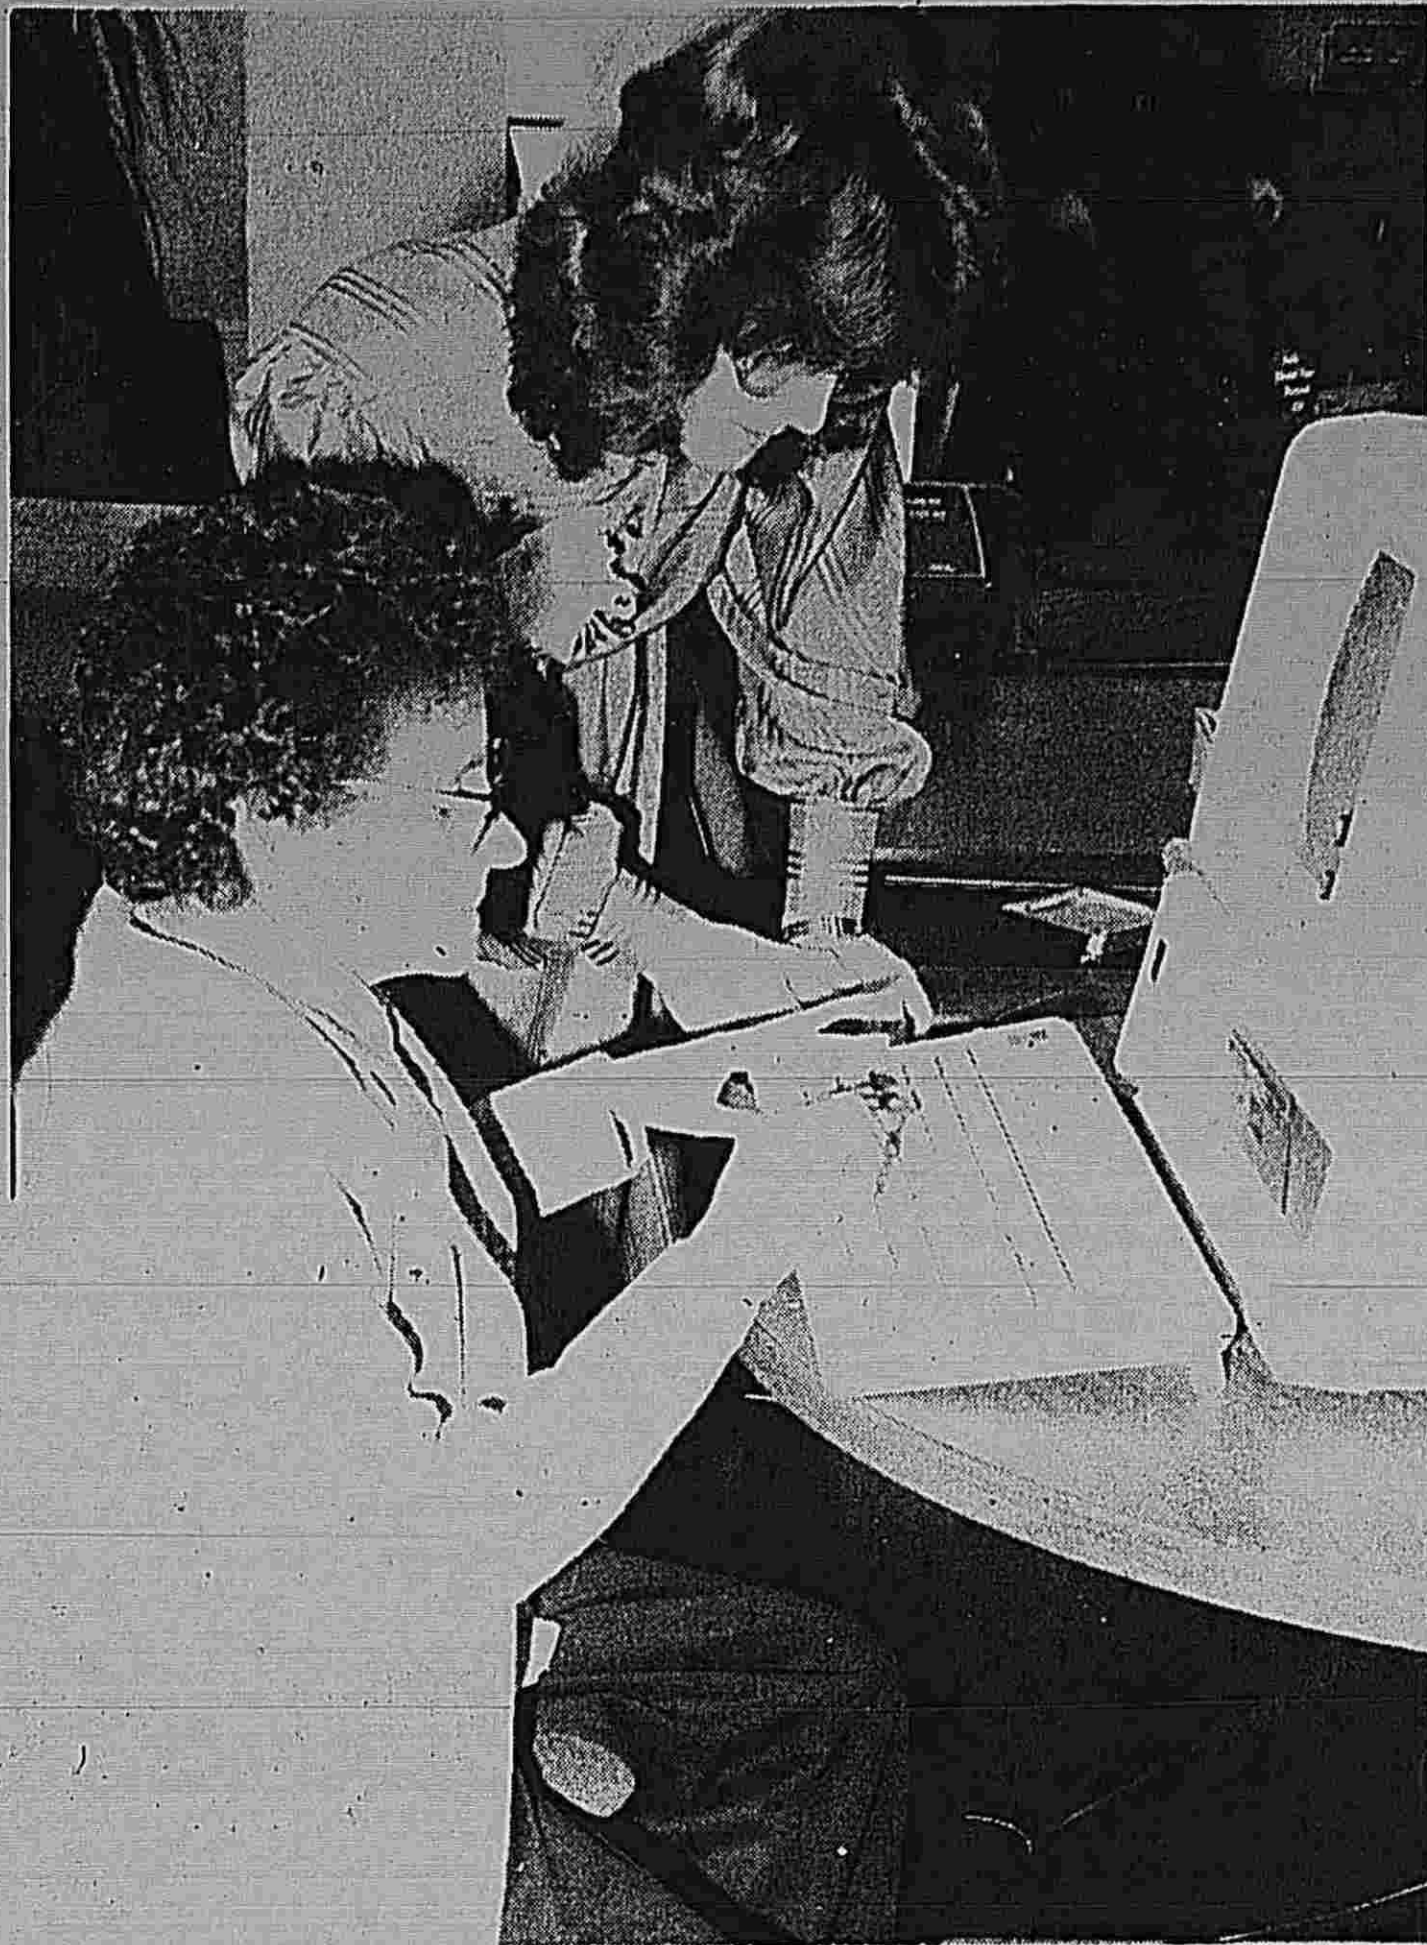

"By March 10, approximately two weeks from now, if we feel that we have been ignored, we will see that each and every home that has a registered voter in it will...receive a copy of this letter and a message from us to them. It will serve your purpose if Mr. Fields and Mr. Popp were to announce that in order to better serve the people of their district they will devote their time and efforts to one office only..."

"To the committeemen that had the wisdom and foresight not to make any endorsement, we commend you," the letter concluded.

Popp backed the action by the committeemen, saying "they did their job."

"They know the four candidates. We've all held office before. They know our backgrounds," said Popp. He also backed the action of Avon Township committeemen who did not endorse in that race.

Statistics still point to need for DUI solution

by GLORIA DAVIS

Populace uproar reflected in the media has done much to bring the drunken driving problem up front, where it belongs, on the legislative solution priority list.

In our own area, with the problem of two bordering states having different legal drinking ages, residents are paying attention to moves in the Wisconsin Legislature to keep Illinois drivers under 21 from drinking in Wisconsin and possibly endangering their own and other people's lives as they start the long drive home, many times under alcoholic adversity.

For several years, national statistics have had over 30 percent of the traffic fatalities caused by drunken drivers and most of these drivers have been in their teens, ergo the push for a national drinking age of 21.

For those of you who think the media has been making too much of the "border hopping problem," it might interest you to know that over half of the traffic fatalities in that county, in 1983, were caused by drunken drivers.

Those figures seem far too high to me not to have a definite connection to the Illinois teen influx.

In deference to those that claim stricter drunken driving laws and stronger enforcement of such laws are the answer, in 1981, the year that Illinois teens started their invasion of the Wisconsin bars, 88 percent of the traffic fatalities were attributed to drunken drivers, many of those were Illinois drivers either in their teens or early 20's.

Since both Illinois and Wisconsin have passed legislation calling for stricter drunken driving laws and their enforcement, that percentage had dropped to less than 60 percent, still a stunner but an improvement.

Matching the actions of the judicial bodies of both states, it looks like Wisconsin is presently handing out stiffer penalties for such infractions. In Illinois, although laws are stricter, reports are that a lowering of the charge is not the most difficult thing to get.

One has to agree that there are probably just as many, or more, adults past 21 and 25 (the insurance risk age) driving after drinking and the law enforcement push should help curb that problem also.

It stands to reason the teen infraction is more noticeable since they tend to drive further to get a drink than older adults would or have to, thus increasing their chances for having an accident.

The kids also tend to congregate with greater concentration in one or more specific areas, also raising the chances of accidents in those areas.

Another move just made by the Wisconsin Legislature, leveling fines on parents of teens, under Wisconsin's legal drinking age of 18, who drink in their homes when parents are not present has been a long time coming.

Hitting parents in the pocket, who choose to let their children break laws in the sanctimony of their home, just might make some of them wake up since the immorality of such permissiveness seems to elude them.

This move might also awaken parents who cop out by not actually giving the kids permission to drink at home, but are too lax to make sure they don't.

During the 1970's, when my children were in high school, the amount of teen drinking parties that took place at homes with and without the parents' knowledge was staggering and frightening. Why there were no mass accidents after any of these still mystifies me.

My daughter went to one of these bashes attended almost by the entire high school where she was told by that household's parents not to drink the soft drink she was pouring because that was for the little kids, beer was awaiting her in barrels outside.

She was 15 at the time and probably looked 12.

Beware of leaving your homes peopled only by teenagers, whether it be over a long evening or an escape week-end (God knows you sure need those when you have teenagers!).

Even the best behaved ones have been known to bow to peer pressure and just have "a few kids over."

Even though I can't assume that all kids will do as mine did, those things can sometimes get out of hand without your little darling being able to control it.

Once one of my offsprings decided to hold a small party while we were gone and depending on two adults teens and a grandmother next door to see that this sort of thing didn't happen.

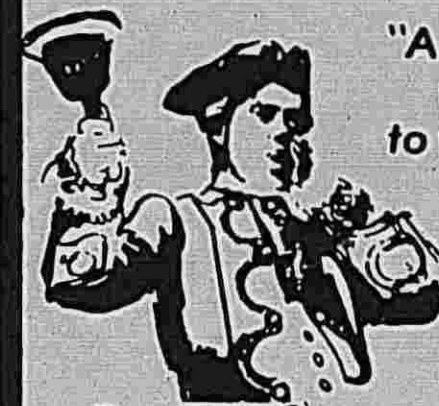

It seems the word-of-mouth invitation spread over the stateline and kids my son had never seen began arriving with sleeping bags in hand.

Getting scared as the strange kids poured in the door, he tried unsuccessfully to get them to leave and only an alert sister's call to police broke things up before the beer and 200 more kids arrived.

So, having a constant handle on your teen's doings doesn't show a lack of trust, just a few smarts and a lot of love!

"The true joy of man is doing that which is most proper to his nature."

Pressure test set for STATS

Free Blood Pressure Screening will be offered to the public on Thursday, March 15, at St. Therese Area Trauma Satellite (STATS), located on Rte. 59, just south of Grand Ave. in Lake Villa. No registration is required, just stop by between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The medical term for high blood pressure is "hypertension." Left untreated, high blood pressure increases the risk of premature illness or death from coronary heart disease, stroke and heart or kidney failure.

One out of every seven Americans has high blood pressure. Yet, three-fourths of our people still do not know all the facts about this dangerous disease.

Family Services awarded funds

Central Baptist Family Services of Lake Villa, a private, non-sectarian, not-for-profit child welfare agency serving children and families throughout Lake County, has announced that the United Way of Lake County has just awarded the agency $7,873 for use in its Illinois Status Offender Services (ISOS) program.

Jimmie H. Smith, director of programs, indicates that the ISOS program serves youth referred by law enforcement agencies throughout various parts of the county who have run away from home and who are management problems for their parents at home. The program provides seven-day-per-week, 24-hour-a-day availability to provide outreach counseling services to the youth and parents.

The goals of the program are to stabilize the family and help them through the crisis, and to prevent the case from progressing to the point where juvenile court intervention is indicated.

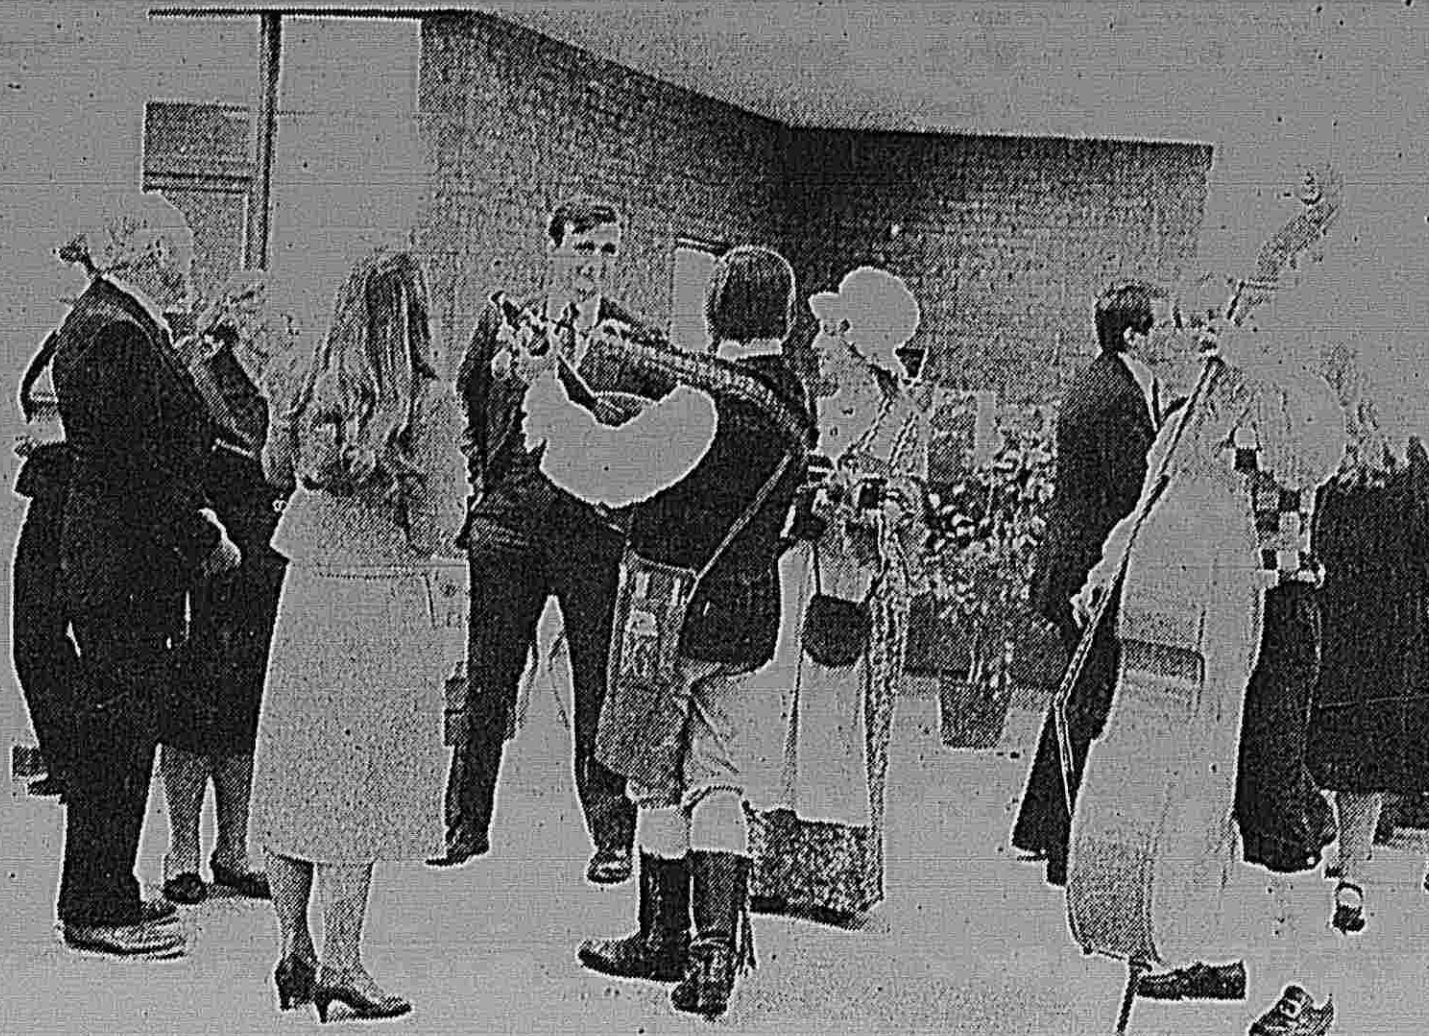

During last fiscal year, a total of 307 referrals were served in Lake County.

Individuals wanting more information about the program may phone (312) 356-1021.

Letter angers

"There was no clear support one way or another, so they didn't endorse and that's only right."

But Popp said that as a result of the insulting letter, he has picked up the support of two committeemen in the Round Lake area. Both, said Popp, were backing Fields and Tobolik and are now backing Fields and Popp.

Fields, who is an incumbent board member and Antioch Township supervisor, confirmed that the two Round Lake area committeemen had called him about the letter. "They asked if I knew who sent it. Both were going to be for me and Tobolik and are going with Fred and me now."

Fields said that Antioch Township committeemen he has spoken with "felt really insulted" by the letter.

"The felt they knew the quality of the candidates or they wouldn't have endorsed," Fields added.

Although the state's attorney's office had threatened legal action against the Concerned Citizens of District Four if another letter were circulated in violation of the election code, no action is apparently coming at this time.

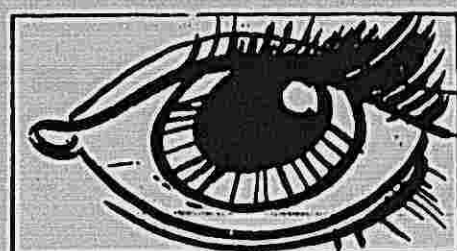

Assistant State's Atty. Gary Neddenreip said that he had once again spoken with a representative of the group and told them "what they had to do to be in compliance."

If the group files a Statement of Organization with the county clerk's office, said Neddenreip, they can then circulate the letters with just the name of the organization on it.

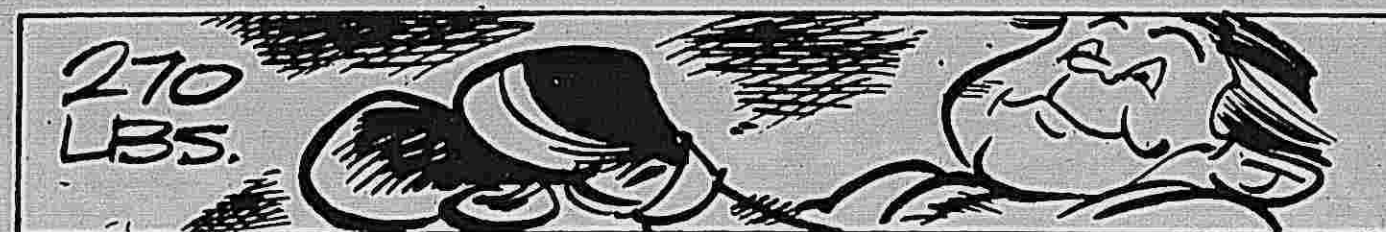

"I feel that they were trying to comply, but were not getting the point," Neddenreip added.

Others didn't see how publishing a post office box number which was not in service was trying to comply.

"I don't see how they can not take action," Fields said of the state's attorney's office.

Holway was elected to this position at the recent meeting of NAPSEC in Palm Springs, Florida.

The general purposes of NAPSEC are to promote intercommunication among private special education facilities; stimulate continued attention to quality and effectiveness in private special education; advocate for the rights of the exceptional children to receive appropriate and effective education; advocate for the retention of a leadership role for the private component in the further development of Special Education; support reciprocity between public and private education in meeting the needs of exceptional children; and promote public understanding of the role and contributions of private education in serving exceptional children.

Holway, who has been the Director of Allendale since 1973, has accepted this position with enthusiasm, and looks forward to the challenge offered by the Association.

Conserving gas is really up to you. But we'll provide a little incentive.

When it comes to reducing the amount of natural gas you use, you and your family are the only ones in a position to do something.

But Northern Illinois Gas is in a position to help.

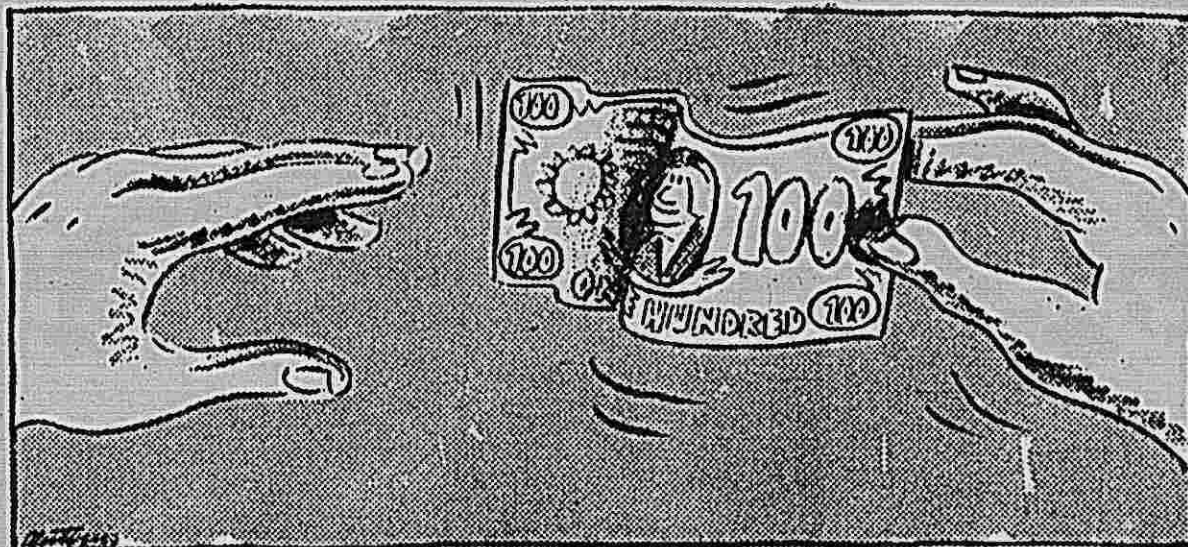

And that's exactly what we intend to do with two programs that will make it less expensive for you to replace your existing gas heating equipment.

$100 toward energy efficient heating equipment: If you buy a new energy efficient furnace or boiler, you deserve to get some credit.

And you will: a $100 credit on your coming bills, 50% provided by Northern Illinois Gas, 50% provided by participating heating equipment manufacturers, on certain energy efficient models.

Financing for conservation measures: If, instead of the $100 credit, you'd rather have help financing the cost of new high efficiency equipment, Northern Illinois Gas will provide financing. You can get this financing when you buy a high efficiency furnace or boiler, and also for a high efficiency water heater and/or automatic set-back thermostat, if purchased with a furnace or boiler.

Don't call us. Call your participating dealer: Even though these are Northern Illinois Gas programs, provided by us, we're not the people you should call, if you're interested. Because these programs will be available only through participating heating equipment dealers. So, if you're interested in either program, contact the dealer of your choice.

Northern Illinois Gas, one of the nation's most efficient utilities, provider of some of the lowest cost natural gas in the U.S., encourages you to use less gas. And is ready and willing to help.

Now, what more could you ask of a gas company?

A variety of art works, including paintings, photographs, prints, sketches, woodcarvings, sculptures, jewelry, needlework and weaving, are being sought for the show.

Adult winners from this year's show will be eligible to display at the Regional Show which will also be held in St. Charles in June. Judging for adult entries will be done by Lois Hrejsa, art instructor with the Art Institute. The Youth Division entries will be judged by Terri Bullock, art specialist at Cooke-Magnet School.

Those wishing to enter the show can do so by calling the Cooperative Extension Service, (312) 223-8627 and requesting an entry form and rules. If you have specific questions regarding the show, ask to speak to Barbara Dahl, Lake County Extension adviser.

Do you remember those exciting times you had as a 4-H member? Do you recall all of the valuable knowledge and skills you gained from 4-H? Weren't the 4-H projects fun? Wasn't it rewarding to exhibit at the County Fair? Didn't you develop some great friendships as a 4-H member? If these questions bring back fond memories, then why not consider helping some young people today enjoy the 4-H experience?

4-H needs volunteer leaders to help organize clubs and to help youth work on projects. The new 4-H Program offers over 120 different projects for youth such as photography, woodworking, arts and crafts, reading, and much more.

4-H activities including public speaking, demonstrations, dog training, international programs, and camping develop strong leadership skills in youth.

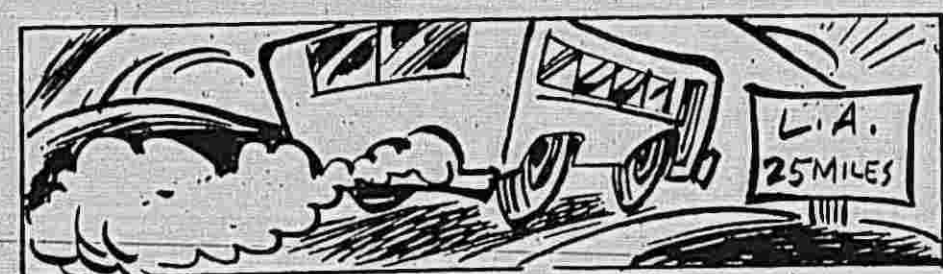

Join the 4-H bandwagon and help young people develop into responsible citizens. It will be a guaranteed pay off for a small investment. For further information contact Norma Schott at the Lake County Extension office (312) 223-8627.

Gerritson will also offer body evaluations with the classes. This will consist of goal setting, measurements, with checks every two weeks.

We encourage everyone to bring a mat or rug for floor work and to wear comfortable exercise clothing including gym shoes. For registration call Glenda at the Parks Office at (312) 395-2160.

The classes are on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, for six weeks, from 7 p.m. until 8 p.m., at the Old Fire Station on Toft Ave. in Antioch.

The cost for the six week program is $22.50.

Americans were able to travel coast-to-coast by bus for the first time in 1928. The trip went from Los Angeles to New York.

Moose Women meet, remember O'Donnell

The Moosehaven Committee Chapter night program was called to order by Senior Regent Mavis Dingsdale with all officers except Chaplain Barb Miller, Pro tem Mary Galster, and 46 co-workers present.

Guides Peggy Learmont and Pat Sterling invested officers and charimen with the emblem of their office.

Moosehaven Chairman Pattie Noonan was escorted to the senior regent's station where she introduced the members of her committee. Those present were: Ann Barone, Veronica Galbeck, Estelle Gatch, Mary Tollison, Edna Kraemer, Virginia Flood and Anita Carter.

Their fund raising project will be a card and game party to be held in May.

Our circle has been broken, Jr. Grad. Regent Marge Hansen and Jr. Regent Rose Herkert conducted the Chapter draping ceremony in memory of our co-worker Mary O'Donnell.

The chapter proceeded with the enrollment of new candidates. Those enrolled were: Leona Wisniewski, sponsor Jerri Polson; Mildred Lombardo and her daughter, Victoria Lombardo, sponsor Mavis Dingsdale, pro tem Georgia Sutherland.

Past Regent Terry Smallwood was escorted to the altar where the 1981-82 Award of Achievement, earned during her year as senior regent, was presented to her. Jr. Grad. Regent Marge Hansen presented the chapter with the 1982-83 award and hung it on the chapter wall.

Recorder Terry Smallwood read the arrears list of co-workers who will be dropped on this quarterly audit, if they don't renew their dues.

A breakfast will be on Sunday, March 11, and the nominating committee will meet on March 13, at 7 p.m. The annual St. Pat's Day Dance is on March 17, and the LOOM is having an enrollment on March 18. The next meeting will be March 15.

Set magic show

When it comes to family entertainment, nothing tops the list of favorites like a great magic show, and few magic acts compare with John Ripp's "Magical Encounter."

A master of illusion, Ripp is more of a Doug Henning, Las Vegas style, than the stereotype with top hat, white tie and tails. His show includes: dissecting his wife(!) Karyl into 3 parts; suspending her in mid-air and making his pet ferret (no bunny!) disappear—as highlights.

The audience even gets into the game of illusion!

Ripp was featured at Lakehurst mall last November where he was a tremendous hit.

The Antioch Lower Grade PTO is proud to present this outstanding performance as a public service at the Antioch Lower Grade School on Tuesday March 6 at 7 p.m.

Plan to attend and leave the real world behind for a spell.

Letter To The Editor

Editor:

We would like to thank everyone who helped make our spaghetti dinner a success.

A big thank you to the Antioch Moose Lodge for the use of their facilities and everything they donated to us.

A special thanks to the Antioch White Hen and Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers for donating all the cabbage salad and to Marge and Betty of the Antioch High School cafeteria staff for their help and for the use of the school cafeteria, and to Norm and all the parents who worked so hard.

Without your help we couldn't have done it.

Savings to seek permit in remodeling building

GreatAmerican Federal Savings said it soon would file documents with the Village of Antioch seeking permits for nearly $250,000 in reconstruction on the building and grounds of its office at 425 Lake St.

Richard Klancer, GreatAmerican Federal

Savings vice president, said, "Plans include relocation of the current driveway and expansion of drive-thru positions from one to four. Renovation of the main office interior will include repositioning of teller locations as well as customer service and executive offices." According to Klancer, the improvements will offer greater services and comforts for a growing number of Antioch customers.

Ray Kaufmann, manager of Administrative Services for GreatAmerican, said current plans call for construction to begin early this spring with completion in late 1984.

In describing the new drive-thru facilities, Klancer said, "The plan calls for closing of the existing drive-thru and the driveway leading to it. This area will be completely landscaped and the new wider driveway relocated to the west side of the main building. These improvements will provide easy access for the drive-thru patrons and will ease congestion on Lake Street," he said.

Klancer also said GreatAmerican Federal has sold the Antioch branch office facility located at Rte. 59 and Grass Lake Rd.

Klancer said the consolidation of all investment and savings services into the office on Lake St. will provide faster and a more complete range of services to all Antioch-area customers. He said depositors with accounts at the Grass Lake Branch will not need to initiate any action to transfer accounts. "All accounts at the Grass Lake location will be transferred automatically to the main office on Lake St. as of March 24," he said.

There currently are four employees at the Grass Lake branch office and all will be provided with opportunities to transfer to other GreatAmerican Federal locations.

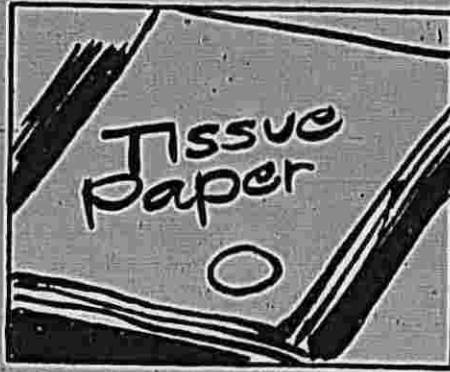

JETS place fifth

This year the Antioch Community High School J.E.T.S. Team (Junior Engineering Technological Society) went into competition at the College of Lake County.

The team placed fifth out of nine schools in Division 1. Kendall Kirkpatrick placed second in engineering graphics. Jim Bolender and Jean Kim tied for the high average on the team.

This year's team members are: Team Captain, Jim Bolender; Kendall Kirkpatrick, Brad Korando, Jean Kim, Sherri Schmitz, Lisa DeBenedetto, Chris Twardy, Art Neubauer and John Dugenske.

Tissue paper gets its name from its original use: it was designed for placing between the folds of extremely fine gold-woven fabric, or gold tissue.

MUELLER FLYS HIGH — Steve Mueller, 34, goes way up for shot in Nile North-Antioch game, won by Sequoits. Mueller scored 23 points. — Photo by Steve Young.

Sequoits end season with Niles North win

The Antioch varsity cagers finished their regular season with a close win over Niles North, on Tuesday, Feb. 28.

The Sequoits beat Niles North, 70-66, with John Humphreys, Steve Mueller, and surprise help from the bench, Joe Keim, taking up the slack left by an absent Dan Berkiel.

Humphreys had 24 points, followed closely by Mueller with 23; and Keim, who came off the bench to score 10 points.

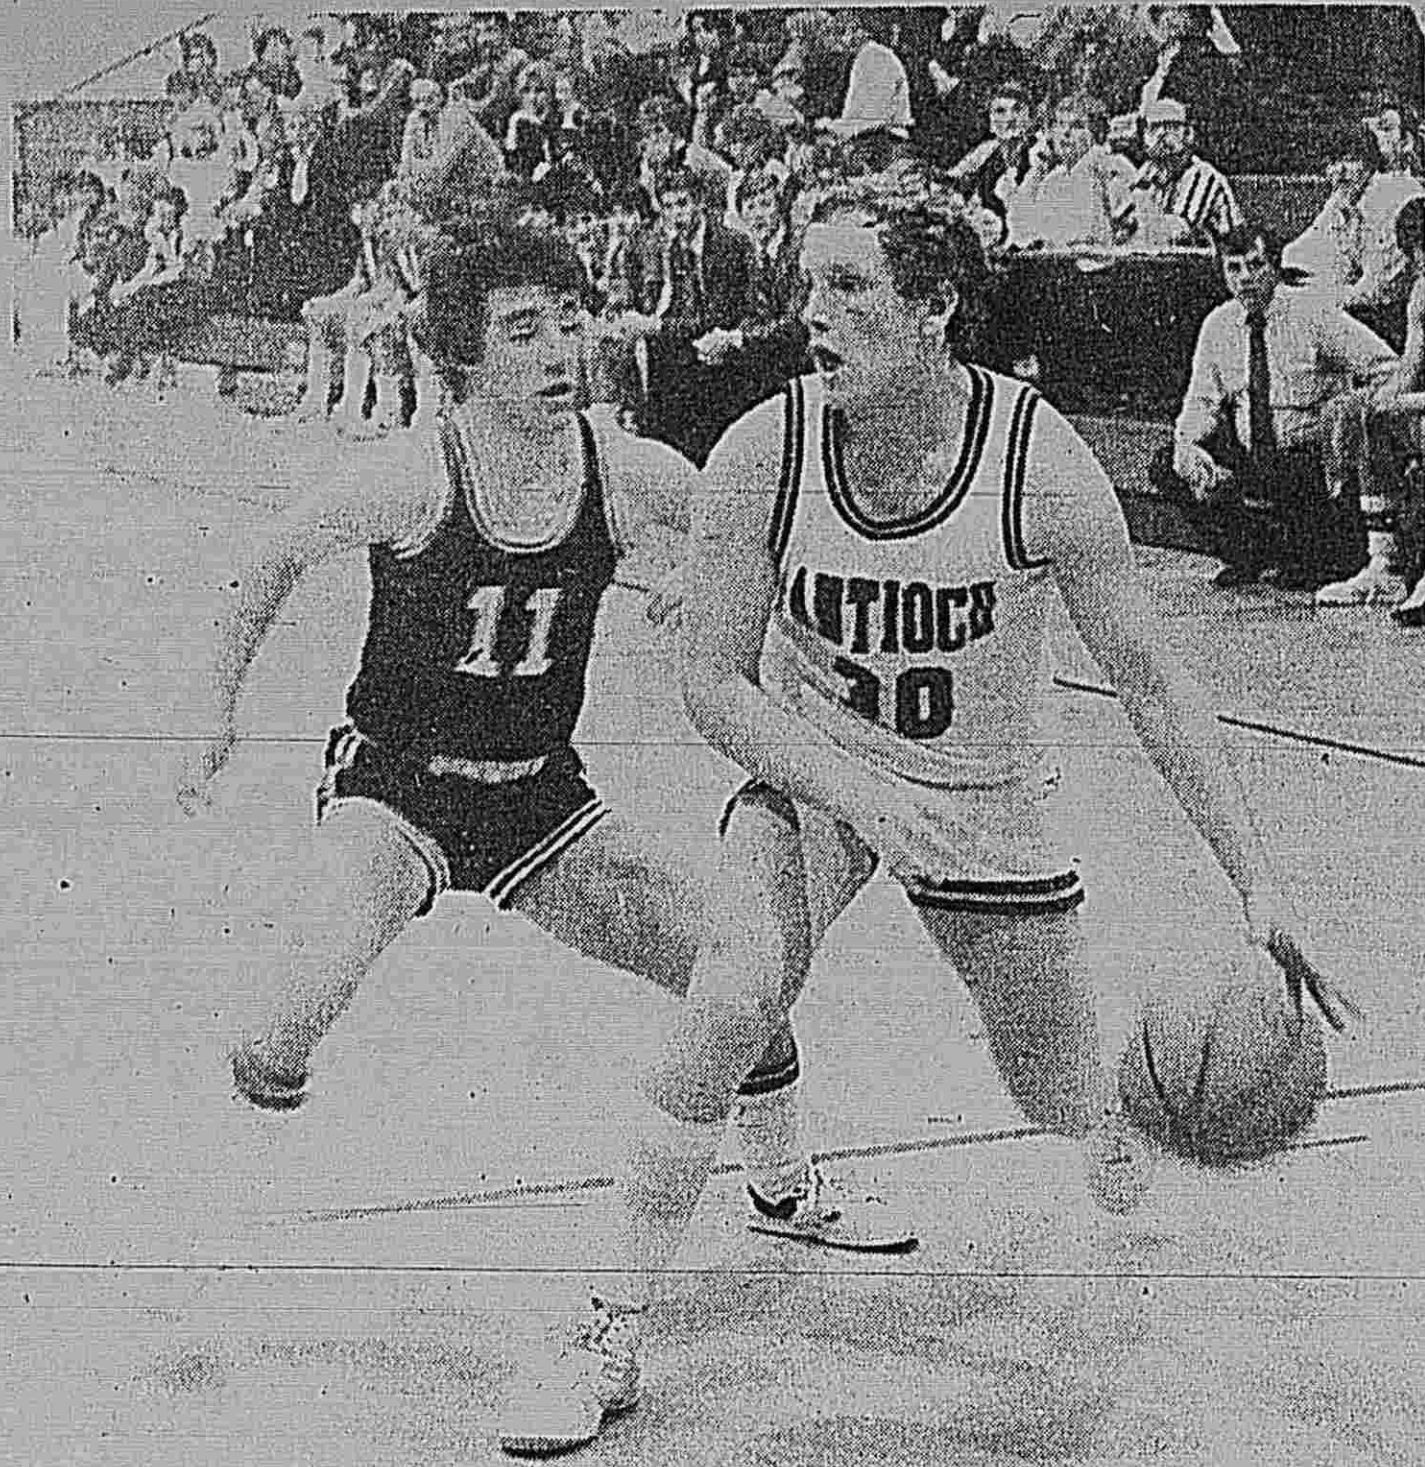

Out of the 38 rebounds grabbed by Antioch, Mueller had 12 and Keim, 6.

"They outscored us from the field but Humphreys, Mueller and Keim did a good scoring job in Dan Berkiel's absence," said Sequoit Coach Don Zeman.

Antioch finished its regular season 8-10 in the North Suburban Conference and 11-14 overall as it heads towards the state tourney on Wednesday, March 7.

After garnering late season wins over the conference's number one and two teams, Warren and Zion, the Sequoits will face Round Lake, at 6:30 p.m., on Wednesday, at Grant, as the state tournament starts.

Zeman, noting that the Panthers, as well as Grant, Grayslake and the Sequoits, will all be trying to end their season respectfully through wins at the state tournament, expects formidable tourney competition.
